

Industrial Bank of Korea (024110 KS)

FUNDAMENTAL VIEW ¹

As of 13 Sep 2023

- IBK benefits from a legally binding solvency guarantee from the Korean government and is viewed as a Korean quasi-sovereign issuer. The bank is listed, but remains majority state-owned. Previous governments had proposed privatizing it, but subsequent governments scrapped these plans. The government intends to keep its stake above 50%. It wants IBK to focus on lending to SMEs and provide earlier stage investment capital.
- IBK manages the difficult feat of combining its policy role to support Korean SMEs with performance that compares creditably with Korean commercial banks.

RISKS & CATALYSTS

As of 13 Sep 2023

- The bank's ratings (Aa2/AA-/AA-) are closely tied to the Korean sovereign's ratings (Aa2/AA-/AA-) due to its quasi-sovereign status.
- Its ratings and its default risk should therefore not be impacted by any deterioration in its financials, provided the government continues to inject new capital when needed, which it is expected to.
- IBK's credit exposure is diversified by sector but is overwhelmingly focused on SMEs, in particular in the manufacturing sector. Its financial health therefore indirectly reflects the health of Korea's SMEs, though it does make prudent use of credit guarantees from other Korean government agencies.

BUSINESS DESCRIPTION

- IBK was established under its own Act in 1961 to assist the development of Korea's small business sector. It claims a 23% market share in SME lending.
- It was listed in the early 1990s, but was re-nationalised following heavy losses in the Asian economic crisis of the late 1990s. It was relisted in 2003, and is majority owned by the government which holds 59.5%; the National Pension Scheme holds 5.6%, and other policy banks have small stakes (7.2% by Korea Development Bank and 1.8% by the Export-Import Bank of Korea).
- Under Article 43 of the IBK Act, if the bank incurs losses they should be set against its reserves and "if the reserves are not sufficient the Government shall assume the remaining loss". Although this is a solvency guarantee and not an explicit guarantee for the timely payment of debts, we believe the Korean government will ensure IBK is in a position to make such timely payments.

GLOSSARY

¹ The Fundamental View is our current assessment of credit quality and our expectation of how credit quality will trend over the next year or longer.

² The Credit Quality Score (CQS) is a number between 5 and 100. It is a medium-term credit score for corporates and financial institutions that utilizes a combination of sector fundamental scores and equity market signals. Values of CQS above 50 generally indicate investment grade credit quality.

³ The Credit Quality Score (CQS) Outlook is the near-term (3 month) outlook for the CQS, based on its trend, volatility and distance from the adjacent CQS risk bucket.

⁴ The Agency Composite Rating (ACR) is the average senior unsecured rating from one or more major rating agencies.

Investing in fixed income securities may involve certain risks, including the credit quality of individual issuers, possible prepayments, market or economic developments, inflation, and yield and price changes due to fluctuations in interest rates. When interest rates go up, bond prices typically drop, and vice versa; this effect can be more pronounced with longer term securities. Any fixed income security sold or redeemed prior to maturity may be subject to a loss.
