

Toyota (TM US)

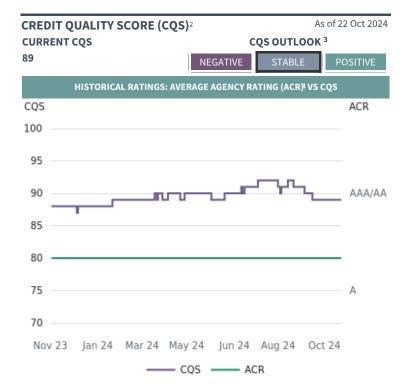

FUNDAMENTAL VIEW 1 As of 14 Aug 2024

• Toyota's FY25 financial guidance is unchanged and includes flat production volumes, a 1% increase in wholesales, a 1% decline in revenue, and a 20% decline in consolidated operating income. The profit decline is expected to be driven by a more challenging automotive operating environment, increased investments in its employees and suppliers, and an acceleration of investments in growth technologies. While currency could be a bigger tailwind to FY25 profit than its guidance suggests, the broadening vehicle certification scandal could be more costly than originally envisioned as it temporarily suspends production of certain vehicles to confirm compliance with certification standards and bolsters its regulatory testing and oversight compliance procedures.

RISKS & CATALYSTS

As of 14 Aug 2024

- Toyota management did not revise its FY25 financial guidance despite F1Q25 financial results falling short of expectations. Toyota unveiled FY25 financial guidance that includes flat wholesales and automotive revenue but a 20% decline in operating income.
- Toyota expects FY25 consolidated operating income to decline from ¥5.3 tn in FY24 to ¥4.3 tn, down 20% YoY. The lower operating income is projected to be driven by a more challenging automotive industry environment, increased investments in its employees and suppliers, and an acceleration of investments in growth technologies, each of which is expected to account for roughly one-third of the decline.
- The company previously disclosed plans to raise factory worker wages and pay higher prices to its suppliers in FY25, aimed in part to help address quality issues related to overworked employees and overstretched suppliers. The accelerated technology investments span both capex and R&D and address areas such as its multi-pathway strategy (BEV, hydrogen, etc.) and create a foundation for software defined vehicles using a combination of software and artificial intelligence.

BUSINESS DESCRIPTION

As of 14 Aug 2024

- Toyota Motor Corp. (TMC) engages in the manufacture and sale of motor vehicles and parts. It operates through the following segments: Automotive, Financial Services, and All Other. The Automotive segment designs, manufactures, assembles and sells passenger cars, minivans, trucks, and related vehicle parts and accessories. Toyota is also involved in the development of intelligent transport systems. The Financial Services segment offers purchase or lease financing to Toyota vehicle dealers and customers. It also provides retail leasing through lease contracts purchased by dealers. The company was founded by Kiichiro Toyoda on August 28, 1937, and is headquartered in Toyota, Japan.
- Toyota Financial Services Corporation (TFSC), a wholly owned subsidiary of TMC, oversees the management of Toyota's finance companies worldwide. Toyota Motor Credit Corporation (TMCC) is the company's principal financial services subsidiary in the United States. Under terms of the credit support agreement between TFSC and TMCC, TFSC agrees to: (1) maintain 100% ownership of TMCC; (2) cause TMCC and its subsidiaries to have a tangible net worth of at least $100,000; (3) make sufficient funds available to TMCC so that it will be able to service the obligations arising out of its own bonds, debentures, notes and other investment securities and commercial paper. The terms of the credit support agreement between TMC and TFSC are very similar to the terms of the TFSC and TMCC credit support agreement.

GLOSSARY

- 1 The Fundamental View is our current assessment of credit quality and our expectation of how credit quality will trend over the next year or longer.
- ² The Credit Quality Score (CQS) is a number between 5 and 100. It is a medium-term credit score for corporates and financial institutions that utilizes a combination of sector fundamental scores and equity market signals. Values of CQS above 50 generally indicate investment grade credit quality.
- ³ The Credit Quality Score (CQS) Outlook is the near-term (3 month) outlook for the CQS, based on its trend, volatility and distance from the adjacent CQS risk bucket.
- ⁴The Agency Composite Rating (ACR) is the average senior unsecured rating from one or more major rating agencies.
